Collaboration between the College of Engineering and COLA earns the school $1.5 million!

The university has been awarded a $1.5 million grant from the US Department of Labor for “Rural Energy Network for Equitable Workforce and Economic Development,” a partnership between COLA and the College of Engineering. Dr. David Khey from the Department of Criminal Justice is working with Dr. Solomon Yi, Dr. Jonathan Raush, and Dr. Terrence Chambers on the project, which will provide training for people on probation or parole to help them get certified in solar installation, solar manufacturing, and green/sustainable building practices.

COLA Intersections: Sparking Cross-Disciplinary Insights

We would like to invite all interested faculty (from any discipline!) to submit a short title and research abstract at the link below by September 20th

We will group together submissions thematically into interdisciplinary panels that we will feature once a month. Knowing that many of you are likely slated to present at conferences this year, we envision these presentations to be equivalent to conference presentations and to take about 15-20 mins each.

Check Out Constitution Day!

Participate in all the events for Constitution Day, Tuesday, September 17th
